

This document has important information about York Region's COVID-19 In-Situ Program ("the program"). It is important that you read and understand this information when completing your application form. If you are approved for the program you will be provided with a letter outlining the eligibility rules in detail. If you have questions about the application or the program please contact your Housing Provider.

WHAT IS THE COVID-19 IN-SITU PROGRAM?

The program provides a temporary rent benefit for up to four months to eligible market rent households living in community housing who, as a result of COVID-19, have experienced an involuntary, short-term income loss and, as a result, can no longer pay their rent in full.

WHO CAN APPLY?

The program is available to households currently living in a non-profit housing, co-operative housing, or Housing York community in York Region paying market rent for their unit.

WHAT ARE THE ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA?

To be eligible for the program you must meet all of the following eligibility criteria.

- ✓ You live in a community housing unit and pay market rent
- ✓ At least one member of your household is over the age of 16
- ✓ All members of your household are legal residents of Canada or refugee claimants
- ✓ Your household experienced an involuntary loss of employment-related income due to COVID-19 after March 1, 2020
- ✓ As a result of the loss, your household now pays 50% or more of your total gross (before tax) income towards rent
- ✓ Your household's total assets do not exceed $20,000, including bank accounts, investments, and equity in any form of real estate
- ✓ If you owe rental arrears to your Housing Provider, you have a repayment plan in place, in good standing before March 30, 2020
- ✓ Your household does not receive rent-gear-to-income, Regional Rent Assistance, portable housing benefit, IAH/OPHI Housing Allowance or the Canada-Ontario Housing Benefit
- ✓ Your household has applied for and received a decision about income support programs available to you, such as Employment Insurance, the Canada Emergency Response Benefit, and Ontario Works

WHAT IF I DON'T HAVE ALL OF THE REQUIRED SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS?

You must complete the application in full and provide as many of the required supporting documents as possible to your Housing Provider. Let your Housing Provider know if you are not able to provide documents showing a loss of income.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I AM APPROVED?

If you are approved for the program we will send you a notice of decision by email advising you of the amount, start date, and end date of your benefit. You will pay an amount equal to about 30% of your household's gross income to your Housing Provider. The Region will pay your Housing Provider the difference between your contribution and the market rent for your unit.

Your benefit amount will be calculated based on the income you receive from other income support programs. Before applying to the program you must apply for other income sources available to you, such as the Canada Emergency Response Benefit, Employment Insurance, or Ontario Works.

Example

Jane lives in a non-profit community housing building and is renting a one-bedroom apartment with a market rent of $1,270 per month. In 2019 her gross income was $40,000. As a result of COVID-19, she lost her job and applied for the Canada Emergency Response Benefit on April 3, 2020, and is receiving $2,000 per month.

Under the COVID-19 In-Situ Program, Jane would pay $600 per month (30% of her monthly income) towards rent. The Region pays the Housing Provider $670 per month, the difference between Jane's contribution and the market rent for the unit.

If you receive social assistance such as Ontario Works you will pay the maximum shelter allowance for your household to your Housing Provider. The Region will pay your Housing Provider the difference between your maximum shelter allowance and the market rent for your unit.

If you are not eligible for the Canada Emergency Response Benefit, Employment Insurance, or Ontario Works, you will pay a minimum rent amount of $390 per month.

WILL THE BENEFIT BE RECALCULATED IF MY INCOME CHANGES?

The benefit is generally calculated once based on your income at the time of approval.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF I MISREPRESENT INFORMATION ON MY APPLICATION?

If the Region becomes aware that you have knowingly misrepresented information on your application your benefit will end and you may have to pay the benefit back in full to the Region.
